PROFILE

Graphic designer with 8+ years across brand identity, print production, campaign creative and motion. I started in a production-first print shop straight out of school, so I design for how things actually get made: stock, colour, finishing, file prep and vendor handoff. I'm now senior designer on a national comms team averaging around 1 million views a week, and my campaign work has won two international Reed Awards. Fast, organised and self-driven: I plan the job, then get it done.

EXPERIENCE

Senior Graphic Designer

2025 – Present

New Zealand Taxpayers' Union · Wellington

- Design social, web, email, video, presentation and print creative for a national comms team averaging 1 million views a week.
- Turn complex policy and data into clear, shareable visuals, often 15–35 assets a day on news-cycle deadlines, using templates and design systems to keep the brand consistent.
- Design A4 policy reports and small-format booklets from layout through to print-ready files.
- Designed and built multiple campaign microsites.
- CAP RATES NOW: built the campaign identity and rollout, from social, motion and signage to a two-sided 18-wheeler truck wrap for a protest activation outside the LGNZ conference.
- Nicola's Fudge: built the satirical campaign across packaging, print and graphics, and directed and finished the film solo. The film aired on the 6pm news and the campaign won two international Reed Awards.
- Develop merchandise, swag and event collateral, working with vendors through production to delivery.

Graphic Designer, Digital Print & Pre-Press

2018 – 2024

McDowall Print · Invercargill

- Designed logos and brand identities for local businesses, and kept their spot colours, fonts and brand guidelines consistent across business cards, brochures, labels, packaging, signage and large-format work.
- Prepared press-ready artwork, including dielines, colour-managed files, proofs and finishing specs.
- Ran digital presses, wide-format and finishing equipment (Xerox, Fujifilm, Epson SurePress, laminating, binding, guillotine).
- Built a variable-data workflow that printed 100,000+ unique Code 128 and QR cards for a repeat client.
